JBL to launch paint primer in New Year enhanced by Applied Graphene

A range of anti-corrosive vehicle paint primer using Applied Graphene Materials PLC (LON:AGM) enhancements is set to launch in the New Year.

James Briggs Ltd (JBL) has prepared its first commercial batch in preparation for full product launch.

READ: Applied Graphene Materials stuck in the red as orders remain elusive "JBL has successfully completed its first production batch which is a significant milestone for commercial realisation."

Extensive testing has shown its effectiveness, Applied Graphene said, and JBL is now ready to launch the range of graphene-enhanced anti-corrosion aerosols under their Hycote brand.

Applied Graphene overhauled its management team recently with the appointment of Adrian Potts as chief executive and David Blain as chief financial officer.

"Both have settled into their new roles very quickly," said chairman Bryan Robson ahead of the AGM.

Applied Graphene also took part in last week's opening of the UK's Graphene Engineering and Innovation Centre (GEIC) in Manchester.
